The light shines in the darkness, and the darkness shall never overcome it.

~ John 1:5

White lights or multi-colored? Blinking or steady? When it comes to the lighting of our Christmas trees, it appears everyone has their personal preference. A lit Christmas tree was the earliest and, for a long time, the only Christmas decoration in people's homes. Now, as Christmas gets closer, we see more and more lights shining in the darkness: candles in windows, houses ablaze with lighted decorations, lawns alit with blowup figures. It seems every year there's always someone in the neighborhood trying to outshine everyone else around them; their house and lawn creates quite the spectacle.

Flooding our houses with light certainly brightens the dreary darkness of these days and creates a most welcome festive atmosphere. It is also our way of witnessing to Christ our Lord, the everlasting Light. Or, as the bumper sticker says, of "keeping Christ in Christmas." As cliché as that sounds, it is a reminder that we are called to bear witness to the real meaning of this holiday (holy day) — the birth of our Savior who is Christ the Lord, the only true source of hope for a world that still dwells in deep darkness. As we have received the "light that is the life of humankind" (John 1:6), we are called to reflect that light, that others may come to worship Christ the newborn King. As this essay from Robert Fulgham's "It Was on Fire When I Lay Down On It" so vividly portrays:

When I was a small child, during the war, we were very poor and we lived in a remote village. One day, on the road, I found the broken pieces of a mirror. A German motorcycle had been wrecked in that place. I tried to find all the pieces and put them together, but it was not possible, so I kept only the largest piece. This one. And by scratching it on a stone I made it round. I began to play with it as a toy and became fascinated by the fact that I could reflect light in to dark places where the sun would never shine — in deep holes and crevices and dark closets. It became a game for me to get light into the most inaccessible places I could find. I kept the little mirror, and as I went about my growing up, I would take it out in idle moments and continue the challenge of the game. As I became a man, I grew to understand that this was not just a child's game but a metaphor for what I might do with my life. I came to understand that I am not the light or the source of light. But light — truth,

Christmas Eve Is Time to 'Walk With Us'

Join CHPC for an outdoor interactive gathering for all ages on Christmas Eve, Dec. 24, starting at 4:30 p.m. During “Walk With Us: Experience the Love and Joy of Jesus’ Birth,” small, socially distanced groups will encounter the story of Jesus’ birth through a series of outdoor stations employing interactive storytelling and familiar carols.

The church parking lot will function as a gathering space for holiday fellowship. Participants of all ages can warm themselves at fire pits and a hot chocolate station and pick up glow sticks or electronic candles to light the way.

The gathering will use social distancing protocols and require masks — when participants are not sipping hot chocolate!

Please tell your friends and neighbors about this opportunity for community and Christmas cheer. We’re looking forward to a unique and meaningful Christmas Eve.

~Lindsay Gottwald

Epiphany Series to Focus on Spirituality in Art

Camp Hill Presbyterian Church will celebrate the season of Epiphany with a six-week offering focusing on spirituality in art, music, poetry, and other forms of expression. The Christian Education and Nurture Ministry invites adults and youth to pour themselves a comforting, warm drink and join a Zoom cafe on Wednesdays, Jan. 6 through Feb. 10, from 7 to 8 p.m.

Sacred Grounds will provide a space for members to share and reflect using artistic expressions of the divine as a starting point. Each week, a member of the congregation will share an artistic work focusing on Epiphany-related themes, including light, wisdom, guidance, appearance, revelation, and leading. A discussion on the piece will follow as participants sip on coffee, hot chocolate, or another coffeehouse beverage from the comfort of their homes. To sign up to share art, music, or poetry on one of these themes, contact me at lgottwald@thechpc.com. Check “CHPCConnections” for more information.

understanding, knowledge — is there, and it will only shine in many dark places if I reflect it. I am a fragment of a mirror whose whole design and shape I do not know. Nevertheless, with what I have I can reflect light into the dark places of this world — into the black places in the hearts of men — and change some things in some people. Perhaps others may see and do likewise. This is what I am about. This is the meaning of life.

As mirrors of Christ, may we reflect his everlasting light into the darkness of our world this Christmas.

Merry Christmas!

Session Highlights: Preschool Items Approved

The CHPC Session met virtually via Zoom conferencing for its regular monthly meeting on Monday, Nov. 23, at 7 p.m. Action items approved included:

- A request from the Christian Education and Nurture Ministry to approve a revised Mission Statement of the CHPC Preschool, which now reads as follows: “The CHPC Preschool is a ministry of the church proudly serving the needs of the Community since 1956 by offering developmentally appropriate experiences, encouraging young children's perpetual curiosity, inexhaustible energy, enormous capacity for wonder and readiness to learn. In a safe environment planned and equipped especially for the young child, the preschool provides opportunities for all children to enlarge their spheres of relationships, their knowledge of their world and their ability to express themselves. Small classes ensure strong parent-teacher communication while trained educational leaders promote the social, emotional and academic growth of each unique child.”

- A motion from the Church Administration Ministry to approve revised accounting procedures for the CHPC Preschool, addressing concerns pertaining to receipt of advance tuition payments, staff salaries, and fundraising.

- Karen Taylor and Beth Fine were appointed as Elder Commissioners representing CHPC at the Dec. 1 meeting of Carlisle Presbytery, which was held via Zoom.

- A motion to move $158,000 in funds from two matured CDs into a money market account at FNB, recommended by the Finance Committee, in order that these monies would earn greater interest.

The Session is not currently scheduled to meet in December.

~Beth Fine, Clerk of Session

Book Study Prompts Race-Related Conversations

For nine weeks this fall, church members from at least three generations spent an hour on Zoom on Wednesday evenings considering the insights of a young but wise Black pastor, Dr. Drew G.I. Hart, author of “Trouble I’ve Seen: Changing the Way the Church Views Racism.” Chapter by chapter, the group discussed insights gained from Hart’s journey. Currently a professor of theology at Messiah University, he shared many personal experiences and perspectives and encouraged readers to examine how attitudes and behaviors are shaped by social environment, how the impact of both blackness and whiteness are important to understand, and how nonconformity to hurtful patterns of society is the way of Jesus.

These conversations, though initially uncomfortable, became more relaxed and were filled with questions and lively discussion. Areas of disagreement were welcomed and discussed. It was helpful and fascinating to learn of each other’s backgrounds and exposure to diversity. The main objective was to listen and "... Bringing our children to a place where they felt loved and that they mattered are our overarching memories of CHPC."

— Jeff and Cindy Thompson

Member Profile: Thompsons Raised Family Here

For this issue of "Camp Hill Press," we enjoy a Q&A with Jeff and Cindy Thompson.

Q: When did you join CHPC?

A: We attended a long time before we joined in 1983.

Q: What brought you to CHPC?

A: While living in Shiremanstown we were "shopping" for a church home in 1977. We visited CHPC, where Esther Boltz was a constant, welcoming presence in the crib room for our young child, and we looked no further.

We moved to Mechanicsburg in 1986. Within easy walking distance of another Presbyterian church, we nevertheless decided that Kathy Kuhn and David Binkley were too important and irreplaceable to us and our family to transfer our membership.

Q: What activities were you involved in at CHPC?

Jeff: We were part of a group of young adults who took their families to Ocean City, Md. (invited by Rob Coffman). Many of our earliest and most enduring relationships with members of the CHPC began there. We shared "Sea Joy" with Pennie Cavanaugh and the Alford family. Our kids still remember flying kites with John.

Rob Coffman also gathered many of those same young men for the CHPC softball team that included present members Roger Hummel, Denny Lebo, and Jeff Hoaster. I was an officer for the Sunday school program (did attendance) with Starke Gregory. He retired, and I kept at it with Doug Silvis. I was a deacon for one term and am presently serving as an elder.

Cindy: My primary involvement in the early days was based on the activities of my children. These included Carol, Westminster, and Kirk choirs, Kirk Nights, and mission trips. All but our oldest child were baptized there, our four daughters attended preschool, and all five children were confirmed at CHPC. I remember Ida May Heidecker inviting me to come work in "better dresses" at the Election Day Rummage Sale, and then I was invited to join PSP (a parents-supporting-parents group) where babysitting was provided. I can say that was truly a lifeline for me. I was a New England "transplant" with no job, no family, and no friends in the area.

Eventually, I served as a deacon for 12 years and joined the Kirk Choir, both experiences encouraging the type of community I crave. For many years I was part of a Thursday afternoon Bible study and prayer group where I had the opportunity to benefit from the faith, wisdom, and experience of some of our currently most-senior members.

For 10 years, I had the joy and privilege of working in the preschool under Dana Tarnoci and, most recently, was on the Pastor Nominating Committee. That committee, with the leadership of Mary Swartz, was a gift and resulted in bringing the Rev. Nancy Conklin, who has exceeded every expectation.

Q: Please tell us about your family.

We have five children: Christy, a social worker; Whitney, a counselor practicing in Providence, R.I.; Stephen, an administrator for the National Park system living in Denver; Karen, a returning Peace Corps volunteer presently teaching at a public school in NYC; and Julie, an art therapist in NYC. We have three grandsons: Jules, 5 this month, son of Stephen and Jodie; Leon, 2, son of

Whitney and Joe; and Griffin (Finn), 4-month-old son of Karen and Adam.

Q: Do you have any hobbies?

Jeff: Sports, hiking, biking, birding, history, and enjoying our immediate and extended family.

Cindy: Activity outside getting sunshine and exercise, and trying to stay in touch with five children, seven siblings, and other family and friends important to me.

Q: What is your favorite memory of CHPC?

A: Friendships, small groups, and bringing our children to a place where they felt loved and that they mattered are our overarching memories of CHPC. The choir and the musicals were especially powerful.

Jeff: Many years ago, Laura Zazworsky invited me to go along as a chaperone on a CiS trip with the youth to Indiana, Pa., where we spent the weekend on a ropes course. A lasting image of Michelle Markley remains, as she tore through that challenge with unbridled energy.

Q: Advice to younger members?

Jeff: Enjoy yourselves and bring that to the church.

Get more young kids involved.

Cindy: Find ways to cultivate, explore, and share your faith and growth; and, look for ways to be part of something where you more clearly see God in yourself, others, and all of the Divine creation.

Q: Favorite scripture verse?

Jeff: The 23rd and 100th Psalms.

Cindy: 1 John 4:7-8.

The Thompsons share a love of nature and the outdoors.

Book Study, continued from Page 3

learn from Hart's experience and use that information to reflect upon our own. For many in the group, it was their first conversation with others about the effect of race. Members of the group had an opportunity to hear Hart speak and participate in a Q&A with him via a Christian Churches United virtual event.

If you were unable to join the study, consider reading the book on your own. The study questions are available by contacting Andrea in the church office.

According to study group member Judy Thompson, "I don't think anyone could conscientiously read and study this book without changing how they view the problem of racism in America. After completing the last chapter, I feel empowered to pursue what churches can do to raise awareness and address these issues, starting with self-examination and reaching out to minority communities to find ways to work alongside them."

Ida May Heidecker also participated in the study group and said, "I believe Dr. Hart tells it like it is. I have seen the pain Dr. Hart describes many times. ... I really hope and pray that we can continue to read books that show the pain of the American Indians and other minorities."

Hart recently published another book, "Who Will Be a Witness: Igniting Activism for God's Justice, Love, and Deliverance," which we hope to study later in the church year. Consider adding both to your Christmas wish list.

ABOUT

The preschool has been busy! In November, our students were learning about Thanksgiving, having Pastor Nancy come into the classroom to be a special reader, making crafts, and disguising turkeys so they wouldn't be gobbled up for Thanksgiving dinner! We had our first spirit dinner fundraiser at Chipotle. (Thank you to all who came out to support us. We raised almost $300!) And, the preschool board represented us at the Camp Hill Candy Cane Walk on Nov. 22, handing out peppermint

Play-Doh and hosting an ice fishing game for anyone that wanted to play in the chilly weather.

December will be filled with Christmas carols, a socially distanced visit from Santa, and class Christmas parties. Due to this year's pandemic, we will not be performing our Christmas programs in person. However, each class will film its own Christmas songs and share them via YouTube with families and friends.

In January, our preschool will be having a schoolwide Bear Week (wait till you see our bear hunt!), and also be celebrating all kinds of music for the last two weeks. Our little ones will be having so much fun! We will make sure to share pictures on our social media pages so you can see.

On Monday, Jan. 11, we will open up registration for the 2021-2022 school year to all of our CHPC families. We will have several classes for ages 21 months through 5 years old. You can find the form on our website, www.chpcpreschool.org, or at the Information Station outside of the preschool office. We hope to hear from you and your friends!

~Dana Tarnoci

ABOUT

Members Share Holiday Traditions, Memories

■ The focal point of our Christmas decorations has always been our Christmas tree. When our sons were young, we always went out into fields to choose and cut our own trees. The type that we used ranged from Austrian pine (4-inch needles), to the beautiful blue spruce from our front yard (I was outvoted 3-1 to cut it down that year), to the Fraser firs that we use now. Instead of continuing to cut our own, we now support the Christmas tree lots of nonprofit groups.

Over the years, with additions from family and friends, we have accumulated hundreds of special ornaments. Some were handmade by our grandchildren when they were little, some had been used on our parents' trees, and some are beautiful handblown glass or pottery that we've picked up on our travels. Most of the ornaments have their own stories. We finish off the tree with silver icicles for that little bit of sparkle that moves as we walk by.

Our Christmas tree is a reflection of our lives together over the past 55 years.

~Ann and Roger Hummel

■ I have wonderful memories of growing up on a small dairy farm in Bradford County. I was number three of eight children, and our farmhouse was filled with the aromas of homemade bread, pies, cakes, doughnuts, and cookies not just at Christmas, but all year long.

On Christmas Eve, we would line up our shoes in front of the bookcase in the living room. To our surprise, we would find the shoes filled with nuts, oranges, and hard Christmas candy on Christmas morning. What a delight!

Another Christmas memory is going caroling with our church youth choir and our director, Mrs. Jones. After singing our hearts out, we would gather for hot cocoa and Christmas cookies at Mrs. Jones' home. So fun!

~Laura Robinson

■ A fond family Christmas remembrance from Tom and Betsy Malin centers around their younger daughter, Janet — who was knee-high at the time in 1985 — and their son Greg, being just 12.

Janet was so excited and delighted to hear the sound of jingle bells outside her bedroom window. She didn't realize Greg was sharing some of his musical talent with her. She was sure Santa's sleigh had arrived and told her family so, as well.

~As told to Pam Gale

■ One of my favorite Christmas traditions is we would take our niece and nephew along to a Christmas tree farm to cut down our tree. The most memorable ones were when there was snow on the ground and they would have fun playing in it as we looked for a tree. After we cut it down, we would come back to the house for cookies and hot chocolate while they helped decorate the tree.

~Lisa Love

■ The Christmas holiday was always my favorite. It was a wonderful time to celebrate with family. I always made dinner for my family on Christmas Eve. After dinner, we went to our church for the Christmas Eve service. After the service, we always went back to my house for dessert and always let the grandchildren open one small gift.

~Linda Zimmerman

■ For many years, we had a special tablecloth that was signed by everyone who joined us for Christmas dinner. Hesitant at first to

GIVE

Notes From the CHPC Treasurer

■ During this difficult time, we are asking those of you who normally place your contributions in the offering plate but are not attending the Sunday service in person to please mail your contributions to the CHPC office at 101 N. 23rd St., Camp Hill, PA 17011. Thank you in advance!

■ With July 1 now being the first day of our fiscal year, we have now completed four months of the 2020-21 fiscal year. Current contributions for October were a very low $23,110.00. This compares to $31,627.64 in current contributions for October 2019. I strongly encourage everyone to maintain your usual levels of giving because the coronavirus situation has done nothing to reduce CHPC expenses, and in fact has increased expenses because of all the additional cleaning needed. With year-to-date receipts as of Oct. 31 at $150,949.69 and year-to-date expenses at $158,721.30, year-to-date expenses exceed year-to-date receipts by $7,771.61. The relatively low deficit is mostly attributable to staff expenses being almost $17,000 below that projected for four months into the year because of several vacant positions.

■ The endowment loaned CHPC $100,000 to help pay for the Education Wing roof replacement, 23rd Street porch refurbishment, concrete repairs by the manse, and Wi-Fi upgrades. CHPC itself paid for the additional $30,275.70 needed to pay for these projects. So far, we have raised more than $91,000 of the $100,000 needed to repay the endowment, and we still need about $9,000 to pay off the loan. If you are interested in making a contribution to help CHPC repay the loan or to reimburse CHPC for the monies it expended on these projects, you can mail a check marked "Building Fund" to the church office.

■ Have you thought about including CHPC in your will or as a partial beneficiary of your retirement plan or life insurance policy? If you have questions, please contact me at dwatts@mwn.com or (717) 503-6518.

Deacons Collecting Items for Free Clinic

During the pandemic, finding medical supplies such as sanitizing wipes and hand sanitizer has been difficult for all. Christ Lutheran Church in Harrisburg has faced extra difficulty this year collecting donations for its clinic, which provides free medical services and basic hygiene products for those who cannot afford them.

Sunday, Dec. 20, through Sunday, Jan. 31, CHPC will be collecting donations of over-the-counter medications and other items for the clinic. This year, the clinic is asking specifically for:

- Disinfecting wipes
- Chest and cough syrup
- Men's and women's white brief underwear
- Women's white socks

- Cough drops
- Lip balm
- Vapor rub

As you do your holiday shopping, please be on the lookout for these items and consider donating them. A donation box will be placed outside the church office for collection. If you have any questions, contact me or any of the deacons.

~Megan Harbert

GIVE

Show Your Appreciation to the CHPC Staff

CHPC members and friends may make a Christmas gift of appreciation to our church staff. Gifts are entirely voluntary and will be divided proportionately.

Please make all gifts no later than Sunday, Dec. 3, making checks payable to “CHPC” and marking all contributions for “Staff Christmas Gift” in the memo line of your check. Since these gifts go to our staff, they are not charitable contributions. Gifts may be placed in the offering plates or submitted to the church office.

~Abby Tierney

Honor Loves Ones With Christmas Dedications

This year, in view of the pandemic, we will not be asking congregation members to purchase poinsettias for use in the sanctuary. However, we still welcome those wishing to make a dedication in the church bulletin and “CHPCConnections” to do so with contributions to New Hope Ministries and/or the Christmas Joy Fund.

Dedications are due to the church office by Monday, Dec. 14.

CHPC Delivers Thanksgiving Blessings

More than 50 loaves of pumpkin bread were delivered to some of our members who have not been able to get to church for a while. We wanted them to know they are missed and that we pray for them often.

Thank you to those who joined me in baking: Sharon Fenicle, Ellen Smith, Monica Zazworsky, Abby Tierney, Beth Fine, Joanne Fissel, Gwen Fourson, and Linda Zimmerman.

Thank you also to those who joined me in delivering the loaves: Sharon Fenicle, Ann Ganshaw, Sue Rothman, Monica Zazworsky, Ellen Smith, and the Rev. Don Potter. Hopefully we were able to provide sweet sustenance!

~Sandy McBride

Messages of love and prayers were tied to each loaf of Thanksgiving bread.

Notes of Thanks to the CHPC Congregation

"A big 'thank you' to all who contributed to the Ecumenical Food Pantry. You've made many people very happy."

— Linda Kelley

Wow, was I surprised when beautiful retirement cards just kept being delivered to my house!

Thank you very much for all your well wishes to me as I retired from teaching after 35 years. I have had a wonderful career and loved most every minute! Now, onto the next chapter!

Thank you for all your kindness!

~Sandy McBride

Former CHPC Interim Pastor Retiring

Donna Miller writes that our former interim pastor, Pastor Craig Miller, will retire at the end of 2020.

"Can it be a year already since we departed from Camp Hill Pres. for the south? We have many good memories of our 16 months with you," she shared.

Please send cards and well wishes to: The Rev. Craig Miller, 2134 New Bedford

SERVE

Save the Date for 2021 MATE Mission Trip

■ We are planning for a 2021 MATE (Mission at the Eastward) trip and pray that the way will be clear to go. The dates are Saturday, July 17, through Saturday, July 24. Mark your calendars!

With the limited scope of 2020 work and the unemployment spike during the pandemic, there will be many applications for home repairs. The need for volunteers will be great — can you give a week to serve in Christ’s name in western Maine?

No prior experience is necessary, just a willingness to heed Christ’s call to serve. We will certainly follow any safety protocols still needed in regard to the pandemic.

Please be sure to mark your calendar now. Detailed information and registration materials will be available beginning in March.

If you have any questions, please contact me at nflint.home@gmail.com or call/text (717) 576-1513.

■ The board and staff of MATE are so grateful to the many churches, including CHPC, and individuals who made special contributions in 2020 that allowed MATE to keep serving its community during the pandemic. Thank you all!

even write on the tablecloth, as the years passed, the signatures were embellished with all sorts of holiday motifs: bells, candles, and even a nativity scene.

During January, I embroidered the new additions, ready for the next Christmas dinner.

Although the tablecloth was retired some years ago, I still bring it out every Christmas so everyone can hunt for their signatures and reminisce, remembering the long-past good times.

But, that’s not the end of the story! Now, every year I buy a plain white plate. With several artists in the family, someone always volunteers to embellish the center (I think they decide beforehand, because they come prepared!), and then everyone signs their names around the edge.

Every Christmas I hang all the plates on what has come to be called “Grammy Pam’s Christmas Wall.” Such fun creating memories!

Helping Children Celebrate Advent at Home

The Christian Education and Nurture Ministry is helping the community celebrate Advent at home this season with tiny Advent wreaths. The group distributed about one 100 Advent-themed kits to children in the congregation, preschool and the surrounding community. Kits included instructions and materials for an Advent wreath made of Play-Doh and birthday candles, prayers for each week, and invitations to participate in upcoming activities for children and youth at the church. The kits have been well-received, and we've enjoyed seeing the mini-Advent wreaths pop up on social media.

Join in the Gingerbread House Challenge

This December, the Christian Education and Nurture Ministry challenges families with kids of all ages to participate in our Gingerbread House

Challenge. Make a gingerbread (or graham cracker) structure of your own choosing as a family and send photographic evidence of the results to lgottwald@thechpc.com by Monday, Dec. 28. We will publish photos on social media and award a prize (or two) to the best submissions!

CHPC Youth to Tackle Hunger in February

Youth at Camp Hill Presbyterian Church plan to fight food insecurity in a big way Sunday, Feb. 7, during the Souper Bowl of Caring. And, they'll be looking for help from the congregation. Look for news about partner organizations and how you can get involved in "CHPCConnections" and social media during the coming weeks.

Souper Bowl of Caring is a youth-inspired, youth-led movement working with other groups across the nation to tackle hunger in their local communities during the weeks leading up to the biggest celebration in football, the Super Bowl.
